'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Add new simile: "Round 'n' round covers a multitude of things."

Today's poisoned doughnut is handed out to the Pacific Gas and Electric company and the Key System Transit (?) company.

The P. G. & E. is at their old sport again, tearing up the streets in Oakland, especially along San Pablo avenue the other side of Berkeley. The Key System, as usual, keeps the streets between the car tracks in a condition that could not be described by an army mule skinner.

Motorists driving north on San Pablo are forced out upon the car tracks by the P. G. & E. excavations with the result that unless one drives slowly, one's car isn't going to be the same.

Speaking of funny "papers," ever notice how the modern comic strip is rapidly becoming a mystery thriller or a "mellordrager," or a sob story? Evidently America has to have its morning cry before it feels better.

And speaking of comics, ask any man who wrote the funniest book he ever read and nine out of ten will say "Mark Twain." Mark Twain was a humorist, and besides that a great thinker, although only a few realize that.

As Cabell says in his foreword to "Jurgens," Twain was forced to hide his genius under a clown's cap because a great nation or prudes and puritans did not understand his art.

The reading public regards "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" as one of the best books Mark Twain ever wrote. Hundreds read the book and laugh—and miss a great deal of philosophy. Some of these gems taken from that book are:

"To be vested with enormous authority is a fine thing; but to have the onlooking world consent to it is a finer."

"Any kind of royalty, however modified, any kind of aristocracy, however pruned, is rightly an insult."

"Inherited ideas are a curious thing, and interesting to observe and examine."

"It seems to show that there isn't anything you can't stand if you are only born and bred to it."

"... and a man is only at his best morally when he is equipped with the religious garment whose color and shape and size most nicely accommodate themselves to the spiritual complexion, angularities and stature of the individual who wears it."

"A man must not hold himself aloof from the things which his friends and community have at heart if he would be liked."

These quotations were picked at random from the first few chapters of the book. If you want any more, why do you down to the library and borrow the book, the same way we did.

LOVE AFFAIR HELD DEATH CAUSE

DENVER, Colo., March 18.—UP—Major Charles A. Shepard, 59, surgeon at Fitzsimons Army hospital and nationally known tuberculosis authority, was held in jail here tonight on a charge of murdering his 37-year old wife.

Mrs. Shepard, the former Zenana McCoskey of Los Angeles, died at Fort Riley, Kan., June 15, 1929, after a 25 day illness. Physicians were unable to diagnose her sickness and an autopsy was performed by Army physicians.

It was said Major Shepard objected to the autopsy for "sentimental reasons."

The examination according to federal authorities, revealed the surgeon's wife had died of poison.

A report was made to Army officials at Washington and an investigation was ordered.

Major Shepard pleaded not guilty to the murder charge when arraigned late today before U. S. Commissioner Robert E. Foot.

He protested when Foot told him "the charge of murder is non-bailable," declaring the district attorney at Topeka, Kan., had agreed to set his bond at $25,000.

The commissioner, however, ordered the surgeon removed to the county jail and said the question of bond would be decided tomorrow.

Several months before his wife's death, Major Shepard was transferred to Brooks Field, San Antonio, Tex., to take a course in aviation surgery. Mrs. Shepard remained at Fort Riley.

At Brooks Field, the investigators learned the surgeon met Miss Grace Brandon, 20, a stenographer. They said the officer became infatuated with the girl and asked her to marry him, if he obtained a divorce. She is said to have refused.

Plot Charged
Later he returned to Fort Riley, where, the government charges he plotted to kill his wife and periodically gave her small quantities of mercuric iodine and mercury.

The investigators said they also learned that Major Shepard wrote his wife's brothers, Theodore and Curtis McCoskey of Los Angeles, during her illness that she was killing herself with drink.

The surgeon was arrested yesterday on a fugitive warrant from Topeka, Kan. He is held in county jail pending removal to Topeka, where his case will be presented before the federal grand jury.

World Chase
The investigation took federal authorities half way around the world and back. It was found necessary to interview officers at Fort Riley at the time of Mrs. Shepard's death, but who have since been transferred to posts in the Philippine Islands and Nicaragua. Major Shepard entered the Army from California, where he had achieved prominence as an authority on tuberculosis.

JULIAN CASE REVIEWED BY GRAND JURY

LOS ANGELES, March 18.—UP—The $100,000,000 crash of the Julian Petroleum corporation was reviewed by a county grand jury again today when the 1930 investigating body questioned a group of prominent local men concerning the three-year old financial disaster.

Among those called was S. C. Lewis, who was president of the oil corporation when it failed after a heavy stock overissue. ## Oil Producers To Retain Rate Pact

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 18.—UP—Oklahoma oil operators today voted to continue the present price-fixing agreement for 90 more days, starting April 1 when the present agreement expires.

The decision came after the meeting had considered the report of the Oil and Gas Journal showing a daily average increase in oil production of 45,000 barrels last week.

S.O. ANSWERS U.S. TRUST ACTION

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—In an answer to a civil suit filed by the government against 19 large western oil companies, the Standard Oil company of California today indicated that its defense would be that it was merely trying to comply with the Federal Oil conservation board's suggestion that oil companies organize to curtail production and stabilize marketing.

The government in its suit charges the corporations with conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust act.

The reply to the suit points out that while there was a great demand for oil during the year, it slumped immediately afterward, and together with the discovery of rich new wells, caused marked over-production.

Board Organized
The Oil Conservation board was organized later, the answer says, and at all times advocated that oil companies organize to curtail the production of crude oil and stabilize the marketing of oil products.

The answer declared: "At the best of the board, Standard Oil has from time to time entered into agreement with other oil companies, some being defendants in this suit and others not, looking to a curtailment of production."

That the company also, at the behest of the board and other Federal authorities, entered into agreements with other companies to promote sound practice in marketing and to prevent unfair competition and unfair marketing, is also contained in the answer.

Conspiracy Denied
In denying conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust act, the (Continued on Page 8)

The dog was to face a firing squad Wednesday for killing sheep. Because the aperture through which Tim wiggled to freedom was too small to admit the passage even of an undersized adult, authorities leaned on the theory that Tim had been "sprung" by one of the small boys in the neighborhood.

THREE INJURED IN S. F. GAS EXPLOSION

MAIN BREAK FLOODS HOMES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—UP—Three persons suffered shocks and bruises here tonight when a house was damaged by an explosion.

Gas accumulated in the basement of the house, located on Fort-seventh avenue near Anza, after water mains in the district broke. The flood of water caused the ground to sag in breaking gas pipes and tearing down power wires.

A report that a repairman had been trapped in the basement of the house could not be verified. The structure was entirely destroyed by fire after the blast.

Other houses in the block settled as water poured from the 16 inch water main. A trans-Pacific cable was put out of service for a short time.

Those hurt were Henry A. Gerdes, a druggist, his wife, an invalid and Truckman T. G. Wilson of the fire department.

Gerdes was thrown through the back door by the explosion and the other two were trapped. A neighbor and a police officer came to their rescue before the flames had made much headway.

Miss Ransome, playing the role of Portia, for she had received permission of Judge Michael J. Roche to act as attorney in the case, questioned Tucker at length and then took the stand herself.

A great deal of her testimony was ordered out, the judge ruling it was "opinions and hearsay," but court attendants agreed that (Continued on Page 8)

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

First Aids to the Feminine Superiority Complex

WHAT woman could exist without these nice little occasional boosts to her superiority complex—

Which the kind fate governing the lives of females condescends to accord her?

Heaven knows, her inferiority complex is fed by enough kicks and kno—

So that the contrast of feeling, for the moment, that she is somebody

Becomes doubly welcome!

Maybe she walks off with the tea-glass water pitcher, first prize at the bridge party.

Maybe her cat, most beloved of dogs, walks off with the blue ribbon.

And the special leash for the best dog at the show—

Maybe Jackie brings home a report card covered with A's

And she thinks, with perfectly excusable maternal pride, "Of course, my boy would!"

But it is out of the mailbox that sweet incense for a woman's superiority complex so often comes—

Incense which she sniffs with glee—

Even while she giggles at herself.

For feeling pleased and self-important and grand, on such ridiculous grounds.

Like many another woman, we get a momentary illusion of wealth and property.

When we find in the mail one of those politely effusive invitations

To establish a credit account in a smart New York shop—

Or, perhaps, a statement that our credit will be good there—

All we have to do is to accept the incense token

And fill out and mail card, in stamped—and addressed envelope.

Such invitations, we suspect, are forwarded to a highly exclusive mailing list.

Compiled from the telephone book.

And we never would accept, anyhow.

Since the vestigial remains of our New England conscience.

Prevent us from running up even monthly debts.

Yet, just for the moment, we feel like a little sister to the rich.

When we are asked to buy without paying, on the spot, that we can pay!

Another first aid to the feminine superiority complex.

Is the bid to a private sale—

The tactful typewritten letter, explaining that oneself and a few other outside souls.

Are to be allowed first pickings.

"Before the goods are advertised to the general public."

This subtle appeal to feminine shyness must often get its woman.

And, anyhow, the first feminine impulse on reading it.

Is to feel all set up.

But the latest superiority stimulus which we have received.

Is a simple little notice, from the landlord at our beloved beach.

"We wish to notify you," he explains, courteously.

"That we have decided for the season of 1930.

"To lease free of charge to our tenants.

"Cards which will admit the pleasure car owned by each tenant."

"Thanks for the compliment!" we breathe, after reading these kind words.

For, of course, our "pleasure car" neither is nor even hopes to be—

We're too dumb about mechanics ever to learn to drive.

We're too busy ever to have time to be driven.

We're too disgusted with traffic conditions, in and around New York, even to want to be driven.

We're not buying a "pleasure car" for the least bit of self-reason.

And, honestly and truly, we don't yearn for one!

We're a hundred per cent. car-unconscious.

If for no other reason than because we're too fond of walking!

All our friends got wings—

All our friends got wings—

We should worry, as long as we got feet!

Nevertheless and notwithstanding, for anybody who doesn't own a car these motoring days.

The blend, offhand assumption that she (or especially she) of course DOES own one.

Is certainly meat for the old superiority complex—

What could be sweeter?

TO ENCOURAGE THE OTHERS

THE WOMAN OF IT; I wanted to write to you after your article on the suicide of that young woman.

CA DISH CA DAY

By Nancy Dorris

In some households the serving of fish is restricted to Friday and other fast days; in others fish appears frequently to vary the menu and to contribute its vital elements to the diet.

In still other homes fish is never served.

Wholesome a food should receive consideration. Often the prejudice against fish yields to an understanding of its place in the diet.

As to a closer acquaintance with the company of fish creatures.

Once the taste is cultivated for fish, the different varieties are recognizable and the possibilities known, the rest is easy. And yet the goal is reached only by tactful introduction of fish in the menu.

A sauce or a stuffing may incline a family toward fish, whereas a simple broiled fillet might be waved aside. Seasoning must be judiciously done and the service attractive in the extreme in the campaign to interest the non-fish party in fresh and salt water varieties.

Baked fish stuffed with a savory mixture and served with a sauce suggests itself as an applicant for a place at the family table. Mrs. Ada B. Vail, learned in the ways of turning fish into table gold, is the author of

GOLF CLUB FURNISHES MUSIC AT DIFFICULT HOLE TO SOOTHE PLAYERS AND INSPIRE THEM TO GREATER EFFORTS—NEWS ITEM—

Novelty in the Bridge Menu

"THE play's the thing" was never said about cards! For at popular bridge games the refreshments fill as large a role in the afternoon's enjoyment as does the playing itself. Alert hostesses are careful to serve their guests with dainties thoughtfully considered, rather than with those that follow a well-worn traditional pattern.

So many women are on a diet—eighteen-day or otherwise—that rich pastries or sweets are likely to meet with refusal. So, too, are the heavy salads, meat sandwiches or other food that may endanger the slimness of a figure that in the present new fashions now more than ever before must remain within bounds.

A clever and novel solution for the harried hostess may be found in flavored gelatin, which lends itself to any number of unusual and refreshing dishes. It may be served in place of either cake or salad, in accord with whether it is treated as a dessert or main dish. As dessert, it may be served as natural or with fresh fruit, but it is as a salad that it allows the clever hostess to exhibit her ingenuity. Many women serve a main course in the shape of hearts, spades, diamonds and clubs to add an amusing and appropriate touch. Served on a crisp lettuce leaf with a bit of mayonnaise, it is tasty and light.

Another solution to the problem may be found in celery stalks stuffed with chopped onion, tomato, filled with chopped egg and olive. Any of these dishes is almost sure to prove popular.

"Oh, she's at her bridge club."

"What's a bridge club?"

"How do they play bridge?"

"By making bridges with creator sets."

"Of course not. Bridge is a card game."

"What do they play for?"

"For small stakes."

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

IN these days when it is fashionable to read books about how the mind behaves it might be well to call your attention to how your mind acts in regard to DEBTS.

I refer particularly to how the mind acts when money is owing to you. If you have the least bit of hatred in your soul for the person who owes you money, you are keeping that person from paying you.

If you owe a person some money, do not stay away from him, for that will arouse animosity in him and keep you from paying your debt.

Make a list of those you owe and put them on your payroll—give them a little at a time, say $1. This shows your good intention and is worth a lot.

The terrible thing about debt is the worry that goes with it.

Modernizing the Home

Tempering the Austere Room

Dear Miss Zats:

Inclosed please find a description of the size of my bedroom, etc., and may I ask your help in telling me how to place my bedroom furniture, which is Jacobean period style and massive—also would appreciate any help and suggestions you may give me in making this room look soft and pleasant. Have no curtains, drapes, bedspread, rug or any knick-knacks as yet—also would like to get a boudoir chair but do not know what to get. My room at the present time looks so stiff and formal with its pale green walls and massive furniture. I favor the color scheme of orchid, green and peach, and would like to carry this through in my room.

I have been given as a gift two small scatter Chinese rugs, of a very deep orchid and taupe border. These two small rugs are not sufficient and I do not know whether to have an all-over carpet and throw these two rugs on top or get a large rug of a different and lighter shade. My vanity bench and small stiff-back chair are covered with a deep orchid brocade. Have been thinking of changing these seats to another color more cheerful.

For any help you can give me I will be grateful.

P. S.—Can you tell me whether covers are being used in the summer on furniture? I, too, would like some help there also. Have a rose and taupe border large 9x12 summer rug for this bedroom floor.

Color and Pattern Counteract Massive Furnishings

HOW does it happen that after two years of exhortation to buy furniture in scale with modern rooms, Mrs. W. comes upon the scene with a full set of Jacobean furniture so large and so massive that it can find a suitable setting only in some vast palace chamber? Undoubtedly the answer is that she has owned the furniture for a very long time—perhaps bought it while still living in one of those dignified old brownstone homes where rooms were spacious and well-proportioned.

Now we have a room only ten feet wide in which to place the pieces. And—more disposed of, we seek for a plan that will soften the severity of the scheme. An interesting problem, and one that may well be given close study by all who are tempted to buy grand mansion furniture for rooms that are not built for it.

Mrs. W. will not be able to achieve a soft-looking room with Jacobean furniture—no matter how hard she may try. But through the introduction of rich color and design she can have a very charming room—colorful, inviting, hospitable—and a room that is in perfect keeping with the spirit of her furniture.

We shall first dispose of the problem in arrangement. As nearly as we can figure it from the floor plan submitted, the width of the room is 10 feet, with a 28-inch space between the two windows. The bed is 4½x6½ feet, the dresser 56 inches long (no depth given), the chest 46 inches long, 21 inches deep and 5 feet high; vanity 58 inches long (no depth given), with a 28-inch mirror.

The diagram shows a good placement of the various pieces—provided there is a sufficient passageway between the dresser and the bed. If not the bed will have to be used against the wall instead of one. In choosing the chair, where the dresser is shown, and the dresser may be placed on the long wall, opposite the side chair.

The vanity and mirror are, perhaps, a bit out of key for a true Jacobean room, but if they must be used, there seems to be no better place for them than the position indicated between the windows, where the 28-inch mirror will probably just fit the center wall space. We hope the mirror is detached and framed severely in old carved oak, as it should be for such a scheme. (The ideal piece for this spot between the windows, of course, would have been a small, shallow Jacobean chest with an old crewel-work sampler hung on the wall above.)

With these four large pieces of furniture thus disposed of, we seek to have room left for two comfortable chairs and the side chair, and it would be better to have two night tables instead of one. In choosing the chairs, Mrs. W. should not forget that a small,

Mr. W.'s desire for a feminine room is shown by her preference for an orchid-peach-green scheme—colors which call for very dainty appointments. Nothing distresses us more than the need to wipe out with one gesture an ideal that has been set up for a room. But this time it must be done, for the colors suggested do not belong; we must use darker, richer tones with massive furniture.

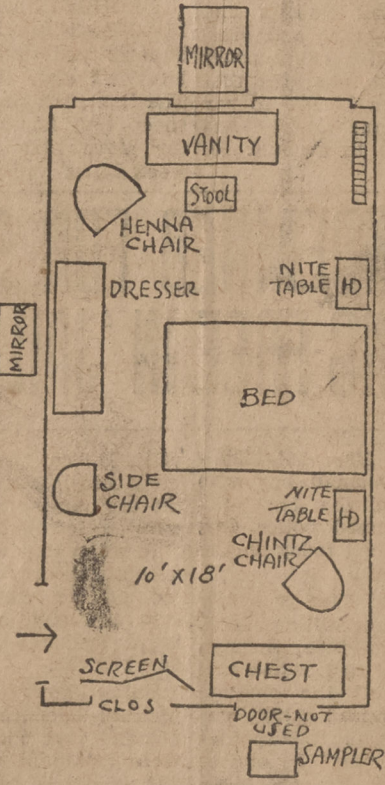

The pale green walls will furnish a charming background. Then let us deepen the peach color until it becomes a rich, warm henna, and use this color for the plain room-size rug. The two small Chinese rugs must take themselves elsewhere for they are not in keeping with the Jacobean scheme.

For curtains at the windows we may have glass curtains of beige voile, with over-curtains of handsome chintz having a deep beige or yellow ground and a Jacobean pattern in greens, henna tones, and a bit of mauve or purple.

If the mirror and vanity must be used between the windows it may be best to have only one over-curtain at the outside of each window, making the curtains full width and full length and looping them back safely to suggest a group window treatment.

It would help to soften the severity of the bed to have as a cover a rich piece of antique green damask used as a throw—not as a formal bedspread. Mrs. W. has not said whether her bed is of the high-post type which could carry a canopy. If so it would be very effective to have a little canopy having a shallow valance of the chintz edged with ball fringe and a top of cream sateen drawn to a rosette in the centre. The easy chair by the window may be covered with henna wool damask, the chair by the bed can have a slip cover of the chintz; the vanity cushion and the seat of the small chair to be in shades of green harmonizing with the spread.

The corner of the room illustrated shows how effective chintz can be in the Jacobean room, and accessories, too, add much personality and friendliness to the scheme. In spite of the heaviness of the furniture, this room is most inviting. It is dignified, too, yet devoid of that type of formality which implies aloofness.

Although she may not use the canopy treatment, Mrs. W.'s bed with its soft old green damask throw, the chintz draperies to the left of it, and the chintz-covered chair to the right, would make an equally charming picture. And when the colorful scheme of henna, cream and green is completed, we believe she will be quite satisfied to reserve the orchid-peach combination for another home-furnishing episode.

In answer to the postscript whether covers are being used in the summer on furniture, we would answer yes—more than ever. With the rose and taupe summer rug Mrs. W. mentions, the only piece in the bedroom that will need covering is the henna chair. She may give a trivily colored slip of Croydon stripe in dull rose shades that do not clash with the pattern in the draperies; welting may be of bluish green.

Sewing on Velvet

WHEN making up a velvet garment be careful to have the pile running the same way in every section, otherwise the garment will look light in some parts and dark in others. Use needles instead of pins as latter will leave marks on the velvet. When basting use the finest cotton and when removing the basting be sure and cut them every two or three inches—if pulled out in long lengths the velvet will become marked.

These marks are difficult and often impossible to remove.

WHERE AMERICA FAILED

THE London Naval Parley is now at the crisis of its career. The big mistake of the American Government was in not sending Bossy Gillis as a delegate. If Bossy had credentials to that five-power conference, not only would England, France, Japan and Italy have sunk their first class battleships, but they would now be scuttling their ferry boats.

We have a perfect picture of Bossy running that parley:

RAMSAY MacDonald—Now I say, gentlemen, England is perfectly willing to cease building 35,000-ton dreadnoughts if America will sink one-third of its fleet.

TARDIEU—France will permanently submerge its submarines. Nothing distresses us more than the need to wipe out with one gesture an ideal that has been set up for a room. But this time it must be done, for the colors suggested do not belong; we must use darker, richer tones with massive furniture.

TARDIEU—Sapoteite, mardit gras pomme de terre, chemin de fer, beurre et oeufs noblesse oblige. (Translation: "France cannot under any consideration reduce its present construction quota of undersea craft.")

JAPANESE DELEGATE—Banzai! hooplai ichi tzu masasa tongo har! kar! wo tan. (Translation: "The Land of the Rising Sun is of the same opinion too.")

GRANDI—Biotto vermicelli crescendo maggiori spumoni minestrone pagliacci. (Translation: "Italy demands more battleships, not less!")

BOSSY—Hey, you guys, that's the grapes! I come over to this five-star parley-voe to look over the blondes, but I'll settle this boat business too while I'm here. Just cut out the chintz and tune in on the sage of Newburyport, Mass. Get me?

MACDONALD—My word!

TARDIEU—Sapoteite!

JAP. DELEGATE—Nichi kun!

GRANDI—Macaroni!

BOSSY—Now, MacDonald, yorsee English are oke with me excepts I don't like the way Kink George presses his pants. But what's the idea of so many battle ships? Why, back home in Newburyport we can defend Plum Island with a six-by-four raft and a couple of slingshots. Where do you birds get off with a dreadnought like the new Rodney? Why, even if it was

JAPANESE DELEGATE—But, Mr. Gillis—

BOSSY—Now, that's just like you, One Bum Lung, to throw your meat into this round-up of gab. Who the hell's goin' to attack Japan when the only thing they'd capture is a clothesline of kimono and a bowl of rice?

Besides, they'd get seasick skimming the Pacific—or is Japan on the Indian Ocean? I forget. Anyway, you can cable back to the McAdoo he don't need no boats at all. He can sink 'em in holes like those Japanese rolling bally, and ain't Bossy said so. Maybe I don't have almond eyes, but I ain't got a peanut head, neither.

GRANDI—But, Signor Gillis—

BOSSY—Don't call me Senator, my front monicker's Andrew. But I's Bossy to you. You phone back to Mussolini to send out his black shirt to the wash and come along with Bossy in this conference. You get a nice little country there in Italy, even if it's shaped like a rubber boot. But you byetallians live on the Mediterranean and just slip live on the Mediterranean and just slip the Strait of Gibraltar with three paill-ruls of garbage and a busted ashcan. Now, if you guys will sign on the speckled line we'll get this conference over and I got a date in Paris. I wanna look for a blonde on the Shamps Eliza.

Pope Launches New Attack On Soviet Russia

VATICAN CITY, March 18.—UP.—Fresh attacks were made by the Vatican on a alleged Russian religious persecutions today as thousands of Italians gathered in Rome to join Pope Pius XI in a prayer of atonement.

When the pontiff says his solemn mass for Russia in St. Peter's tomorrow morning, perhaps 50,000 persons will be present in the famous cathedral. Church bells will ring throughout Italy and every Catholic parish in the world will have a special atonement mass.

"The words of the Soviet government cannot be believed," said a Vatican spokesman when informed of the intention to close 50 more churches in the Moscow district.

"This closing of the churches in Moscow arouses the suspicion that the Soviets desire to follow an policy in the cities and another in the agricultural districts. Saturday's news apparently referred only to the country regions."

Earlier an inspired note had been issued at the Vatican saying that the abatement of Russian anti-religious policy, as demanded by the Communist party resolutions Saturday, had made a great impression on the ecclesiastical and Catholic world. The note said that evidently the Soviet government had taken cognizance of the profound popular response to the Pope's initiative against prosecutions.

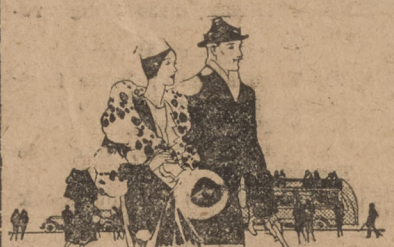

The Papal newspaper, Osservatore Romano, printed a long editorial tonight saying that tomorrow's expiatory mass "amounts to a crusade."

"HALLELUJAH" STARS FIRST AUDIENCE

When "Porgy" electrified the stage, many wondered if an all-negro film drama would not furnish a new and successful type of screen entertainment, but none had the temerity to attempt it until King Vidor directed of "The Big Parade," braved all tradition.

The result is "Hallelujah!" Metro Goldwyn Mayer's all-negro talking and singing drama, first of its kind in history. It writes a new page in the history of the art of the screen.

The new picture which closes today at the Fox-California theater, is one of the most moving human dramas in years. It does for the American negro what "The Big Parade" did for the soldier, showing the human side of a great race. Its haunting music, the spirituals and blues of the southern negroes, sung by the Dixie Jubilee Chorus and actual cotton workers on Mississippi plantations, is used in the picture to accent and point up the poignant drama of the negro race.

The story, an original by King Vidor, traces the life of a young negro, raised on a southern plantation, through the entire gamut of human experience and emotions. Spectacular scenes, such as the baptism on the banks of the Mississippi, with thousands of white-robed worshippers, the great camp meeting where the preacher goes to his congregation to religious frenzy and other powerful episodes mark the action of the story. The film was made mostly in cotton plantations, along the Mississippi.

The principals were recruited from the professional stage. Daniel Haynes, of New York's "Show Boat" production, Nina Mae McKinney, of "Blackbirds," Fannie Belle de Knight, of "Lulu Belle," Harry Gray, Victoria Spivey, William Fountaine and others of note are among these; the extras were recruited from Beale Street in Memphis and from among the actual cotton workers of the field.

Also on the program is a Laurel and Hardy comedy "They Go Boom."

Greta Talks

GRETA GARBO and Charles Bickford in a scene from Anna Christie which will be shown at the Fox-California theater tomorrow. The film is rated as one of Miss Garbo's best.

SENATORS VOTE OBSCENE BOOK CENSORSHIP

obtained from Smoot a withdrawal of his proposed ban on treasonable and seditious books.

Thereupon more radical Senators reintroduced a modified proposal forbidding books urging treason or insurrection against the United States, but none of them included "forcible resistance to law" as Smoot originally proposed.

The Senate adopted this amendment 54 to 24 and thereupon adopted the whole Smoot censorship amendment without a record vote.

The House tariff bill as passed retained the present law under which customs clerks act as censors, and the fate of the censorship provision will be decided in conference between the two houses after the bill is passed, probably in the next few days.

The Senate censorship provision is a complete victory for Smoot who sought for a time to hold a secret Senate session at which he promised to read specimens of pornographic literature. Instead he circulated several of the books mentioned among fellow Senators last night and today.

It is this finally enacted it probably will result in a new determination of the admissibility of more than 500 foreign books including many of the classics which are now on the black list of the customs bureau of the treasury.

Following a short business meeting in the Memorial hall last night, Ladies Night was celebrated by Gladstone Lodge, Sons of St. George.

Dave Carmickle was the speaker of the evening, and based his topic on the British Benevolent society.

Following the address, a program was presented which was as follows: Piano solo, Kenneth Olds; violin solo, Miss Adele Thomas, accompanied by Leone Orre; clog dance, Francis Neville and Carmen McQueen; orchestra selections, Orre's Junior orchestra; bass violin solo, Forrest Jenkins, accompanied by Leone Orre; vocal solos, by Herbert Caswell.

Following the program dancing was enjoyed by the group to music by a radio, provided by Carl Richards.

Following the burial at San Pedro of their brother, Thomas Pezzotti, four Richmond women have returned to their homes here. The sisters are: Mrs. W. E. Soby, Mrs. A. C. Palmer, Mrs. N. E. Smith, and Mrs. J. E. Aubouchon. Another sister, Mrs. J. A. King of Oakland, also attended the funeral at San Pedro.

Pezzotti was a retired naval lieutenant-commander, and was accorded full naval honors at his burial. The interment was held at Roosevelt memorial cemetery in San Pedro. The San Pedro Elks also assisted in the services.

Miss Elfvig recently came to Richmond from Los Angeles. She passed away at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. E. Lagergren of Nineteenth street.

Scots Group Of City Feted By San Franciscans

Members of the St. Andrews society of Richmond were the guests of the San Francisco St. Andrews society recently at the Native Sons' auditorium in San Francisco.

The Oakland society was also well represented at the joint meeting, which was a stag affair.

The local delegation was headed by Peter McCallum, president of the local society. Other members of the Richmond St. Andrews society who attended the meeting in San Francisco were: W. J. MacDonald, W. Urquhart, Donald MacPhail, James Stuart, Arthur Murray, W. MacDowell, W. Wallace, George Smith, Robert Fulton, and Stewart Lumby.

An outstanding feature of the evening was the presentation of a purse of gold to George St. John Bremner, secretary of the San Francisco society and a member of the society for 50 years, by John MacLaren, famous landscape artist and builder of Golden Gate Park.

MacLaren has been in the San Francisco St. Andrews club for an even longer period than Bremner.

It is expected that the San Francisco club will make a return visit to the local society in the near future.

GRETA GARBO IN FIRST TALKIE

It is entirely characteristic of Greta Garbo that she walked right into her first talking picture without even taking counsel with a voice test.

That very minute she looked up and saw the microphone over her head was perhaps the most important in her career. She was going to talk in pictures. Or she wasn't.

Not the slightest trace of anxiety or apprehension did she betray. No sign of whatever conflict or surge of doubt may have been buried beneath that stolid mask.

Instead, she merely nodded readily and began her lines—

"Gimme a whiskey—ginger, ale on the side—an' don't be stingy, baby!"

Up in the glassed monitor room, Gavin Burns, voice mixer, listened intently as her words reached him through the recording system. Then he leaned back and grinned at Clarence Brown, the director, who glanced now and again for a sign of approval.

"Anna Christie" at last was under way. Garbo was making her first talking picture for Metro-Goldwyn Mayer, a debut long awaited by critics and public alike, everyone keenly curious to learn how she talked.

This picture opens tomorrow at the Fox-California theater for a two day run.

McKenzie On Appellate Bench

MARTINEZ, Mar. 18.—To assist in clearing up the appellate court calendar, Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie has been assigned to sit as appellate judge in San Francisco for six weeks beginning on Monday.

Division 1 of District No. 1 is the department to which the judge has been assigned. His service there will center chiefly on some important cases now pending before the tribunal.

The commission is the first to ever be given a superior judge of Contra Costa county, its acceptance coming after two years solicitation on the part of judges who have sought the Martinez jurisdiction to sit on the appellate bench and aid in clearing up congested court calendars.

Turning the light of Truth on false and misleading statements in recent cigarette advertising

WHAT ANOTHER MANUFACTURER of cigarettes chooses to say about his product is not our affair. Even when he sees fit to misrepresent his product and leave false impressions concerning it, that still is his business—not ours.

But—when, in his advertising, he goes beyond his own product and makes false statements or leaves misleading impressions about other cigarettes—then it is time that the truth be told.

Some time ago a manufacturer of cigarettes used the following statements in his advertising:

"The extra secret heating process removes from (——) harmful irritants, corrosive acids, which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way, and which cause throat irritation and coughing."

"No matter how much or how little you pay for cigarettes you have a choice of only two general classes, and not more than two. In one class you have the billions of cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way and in the other class you have (——), the toasted cigarette, a product of modern science, a cigarette from which harmful irritants have been removed by that extra secret process described by the phrase 'It's Toasted'."

WHEN THESE STATEMENTS were first made, we assumed that they were a casual phase of that manufacturer's advertising and did not represent a deliberate and calculated policy. After making a few such statements, he abandoned this particular form of advertising. However, other statements used in his advertising came to the attention of the Federal Trade Commission on a question of their truthfulness.

As a result of the action of the Federal Trade Commission he was ordered to stop his admitted practice of using in his advertising false testimonials of non-smokers to the effect that they kept slender by smoking his brand of cigarettes, and was further ordered to stop using other fake testimonials and the specious argument that all can keep slender by smoking that brand of cigarettes. He then began to use again the form of statement quoted above or variations of it.

IF ANY MANUFACTURER chooses to say that the tobaccos he uses contain "harmful irritants, corrosive acids, that are injurious to the throat," and then to claim that these things are removed by the heat-treating process, that is his own affair. But when he tries to create the impression that it is general practice to use in cigarettes such rank tobaccos as he describes, we object to the attempted reflection on the industry.

We have never used in our blend those rank tobaccos which can be properly described as containing "harmful irritants, corrosive acids," nor do we believe that they are used by some of the other manufacturers.

If that manufacturer wishes to advertise heat treatment, calling it toasting or what-not, that is his right. But when, in so doing, he tries to create the impression that he is the only maker of cigarettes who treats tobaccos with heat, the truth again needs to be told.

The publication of a fake testimonial is no greater perversion of the truth than to imply that the heat treatment of tobaccos is an exclusive process with any single manufacturer.

THE FACT is that the use of heat treatment in the manufacture of tobacco is about the most commonplace and universally practiced method in the industry. It has long been standard practice.

We use heat treatment in its most modern and scientific application, both in the preparation and in the manufacture of those mild, fragrant, ripe tobaccos that carry their natural goodness into CAMELS.

The first CAMEL Cigarette we ever made was manufactured under the heat-treating process. Every one of the billions of CAMELS produced since has been manufactured under heat treatment. We rely upon heat to the limits of its possibilities to make our good tobaccos better. It cannot make inferior tobaccos good.

WHETHER OR NOT a manufacturer, to have something to talk to the public about, attaches a contrivance to his heat-treating machines to catch, condense and bottle the vapors that come from them can have no more effect toward improving the tobacco than your catching and bottling the vapors that come from your teapot would have toward improving the tea in the pot.

Our own brand, CAMEL, continues to grow, but we are, nevertheless, unwilling to let these far-reaching false statements or impressions regarding the cigarette industry go uncorrected.

INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET AT HIGH

Richmond Union high school trackmen will attempt to gain honor for their classes tomorrow afternoon when the annual inter-class track meet is held on the local high school athletic field.

More than 50 athletes will compete in this annual sports classic at Richmond high. As a result of the greater attention given to track by the local high school coaches, a far larger number of boys have signed up for this sport this season than ever before.

The chances of the sophomores have never been better than at present. Ed Masek, Leslie Scarella, E. O'Brien, Beltz, and Grover Johnson should gain a large pointage for the sophomore class in tomorrow's meet. However, the closest competition will probably be held between the juniors and seniors. The senior class captured the greatest score for many years in the inter-class track tourney. However, it seems at present as if the seniors will this year be facing the strongest opposition that they have yet had to meet. The juniors will probably be the deciding factor tomorrow, as they possess veteran athletes such as Young, Babich, Drexel, and Young.

Teams Lined Up For S. O. League

The team committee of the Standard Oil Baseball association is busy at work compiling the membership of the four teams that will compete in this season's Standard Oil Twilight league.

The members of the team committee are Jack Snively, Howard French, Charles Freine, Artie Schimpf, Pat Transue, and 'Dutch' Wetzel.

Several members of the Standard Oil baseball club gathered yesterday to discuss the forming of the league teams.

The league is scheduled to start May 1. The games will be played on the first street diamond.

Sophomore Girls Win Volleyball Title At High

"SEEN BETTER DAYS"

HIGH SCHOOL 9 LOSES FIRST CONTEST

The hazards of an unknown and rocky field were the greatest factors in the downfall of the Richmond Union high school baseball athletes at the hands of the Centerville high school nine yesterday in Centerville. The final score was 11 to 7 in favor of Centerville.

The local players were very much "at sea" on the Centerville diamond yesterday. Hitlocks, water-filled ditches, and miniature boulders caused the local athletes to pile up the unusual total of 11 errors. The Centervillians, who were aware of the hazards awaiting the innocent on their diamond, committed only four errors.

However, in spite of their unusual number of mishaps, the locals staged a stubborn fight that held the Centerville athletes within a reasonable margin.

Lemon started on the mound for Richmond, and pitched a neat brand of baseball for the first five innings allowing only four hits and three walks. Johnny Babich then assumed the responsibility as chucker for the local outfit, and held his own against the heavy sluggers of Centerville during the remainder of the contest. Babich also allowed four hits. Rosano received during the entire game for Richmond.

Lemon secured Richmond's only hit for extra bases, nipping a fast one from Ketashima. Centerville chucker, for a two bagger. Viano also had a big day at the plate for the locals, gathering two hits out of a possible three.

Richmond Union high school's varsity nine will again go into action when it tangles with the Berkeley high school squad Friday afternoon on the First street lot. The local high school B team is scheduled to clash with the Berkeley high school B's today on the First street diamond. Marcus is expected to start in the box for the local B's while Howard Miller will be behind the plate for Richmond.

After Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

Of course the spitter earns your disgust ... his filthy habit is revolting. Why not feel the same way about the old-fashioned cigar ... the cigar rolled by dirty fingers and tipped with spit? Remember, more than half of all cigars made in this country are still made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit!

Certified Cremo protects you against this abomination! Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods developed by the United States Government during the war. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Your physician has in mind a cigar like Certified Cremo when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof ... immaculate ... foil-wrapped ... Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly was thinking of when he said: "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

Natural Gas

—a safe fuel for heating your home

Facts published by "The National Board of Fire Underwriters" prove that gas fuel is the safest of all fuels.

Furthermore, physicians know that gas fuel is absolutely safe when burned in MODERN, UP-TO-DATE appliances. Perhaps you recall the old portable heating appliances which were connected with a flimsy rubber hose to a gas pipe. These appliances were not vented and the results were often unpleasant. People blamed the gas fuel. As a matter of fact, the blame should really have been placed upon the poorly-designed appliances. To judge modern gas-fired equipment upon the basis of such obsolete equipment is like comparing coal oil lamps with modern electric lights.

In modern heating appliances, Natural Gas burns in a steel firebox. The invisible products of combustion go outdoors through a chimney—just as smoke does from any fire. In no way can the gas escape into your home. That is why gas fuel produces healthful heat.

In addition, Natural Gas burns clean without any smoke or dirt. It is the easiest fuel to control and you can have an even, warm temperature in your home without any effort on your part. Furthermore, it costs 50% less to use Natural Gas than manufactured gas. In fact, the cost of using it is even cheaper than the cost of using any other fuel.

For full details about heating equipment that burns the cheap Natural Gas, see a heating contractor or phone or call at our office.

for the office were Undersheriff Morton H. Springer, D. C. Colegrove, a realtor and Joe Soares, chief criminal deputy under former Sheriff Barnett. Soares withdrew, Colegrove it was brought out, was a former realty partner of W. H. Parker, indicted commissioner.

Young's resignation was the second in two days. E. K. Sturgis, commissioner of finance resigned yesterday following admission before the grand jury that he had acted as a paid attorney for members of the paving "ring" passing on the legality of contracts upon which he later voted as a city official.

The grand jury had prepared accusations against both Sturgis and Young, charging them with misconduct in office.

New Ordinance

Dr. Charles R. Fancher, city health officer, was appointed to fill Sturgis' place.

With the two new councilmen installed, an ordinance realigning the administration will probably be submitted tomorrow at the council meeting with sufficient votes said to be assured to effect its passage.

Commissioner Frank Colbourn who was removed from the department of public health and safety when Sturgis, Young and Commissioner W. H. Parker entered the council, will enter his old post and will restore Drew as chief of police, it was said.

Treasurer Out
Dr. Fancher will head the department of finance and Colonel Anderson, a former member of the park board and chairman of the civil service commission will become commissioner of streets.

The shakeup calls for the ousting of Treasurer Sophus Nelson, but his successor has not yet been named, it was reported.

It was learned today that at least 17 criminal indictments have been prepared. It was learned, against individuals implicated in various phases of alleged paving and other graft.

many times he had been lenient with her as she stumbled over legal questions.

Tucker had been leading man in "White Cargo" when Miss Ransome, who played the part of Tondeleyo, was dismissed from the cast here five years ago.

He denied that he had thrown her to the stage floor harder than a part called for, that he had clasped his hands around her throat more firmly than he had been told in rehearsals, that he had "engineered" a plot to have her ousted from the theater by police officers after her dismissal.

Then Tucker received permission to return to Hollywood, where he is now engaged in production of a picture.

Miss Ransome took the witness stand. She claimed that she was injured when "dragged" from the theater, and she was so overpowered that an orchid was torn from her evening gown. She charged that the leading man had been jealous because her name was advertised more than his. All this, she estimates, should be worth $100,000.

Wife Granted Permission To Beat Husband

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 18.—UP—A good clubbing for husbands who come home intoxicated and are otherwise disorderly was prescribed by Judge Fred Stark in police court Thursday.

Permission to use a club on her husband and the assurance that he would uphold her in court was granted Mrs. Sadie Emert, 23, after she had testified that her husband, Walter Emert, 26, had a habit of beating her. Judge Stark delayed punishment for the husband pending an investigation by police women.

Avon Workers Will Build Tokyo Plant

MARTINEZ, Mar. 18.—According to an announcement today by Associated Oil company officials, a number of executives, engineers and plant operators from the Avon plant here will probably be sent to the Orient to supervise the building and operating of an Associated plant on Tokyo bay for Japanese interests.

W. P. Hugo, plant superintendent of the Avon refinery, declared that although it was practically decided that Avon men would be sent to the Orient, the company is not in a position to state exactly who they will be.

Moran To Undergo Serious Operation

LOS ANGELES, March 18.—UP—George Searcy, who until recently was the "George Moran" of the blackface comedy team, Moran and Mack, will undergo an operation here Wednesday on a badly infected gall bladder.

Dr. O. W. Justice, his physician, said that Searcy's condition was serious, but probably not critical. Much, however, will depend upon the operation. Searcy recently had legal difficulties with Mack after being replaced in the Moran and Mack team.

but, in this connection, it was pointed out that the dog would have freed himself days ago if unaided escape from the dog pound had been possible.

The theory that a small boy helped Tim to freedom was supported by the fact that the opening in the pound was too small to admit the body of even a small adult.

It is reasoned that the boy pried the thin boards apart, squeezed through the opening, removing Tim's restraining collar and let the dog slide through the hole to liberty.

Seen Frequently
No serious effort seems to be underway to capture Tim, although reports filtered into the police that Tim had been seen in many localities. Some of these calls may have come from dog lovers here who would be overjoyed if Tim got away and for that reason are volunteering false clues as to his whereabouts.

The case of Tim is one of the most interesting in the history of criminal cases in the city.

California has a law compelling the owners of sheep-killing dogs to kill the dogs and Tim was found guilty of killing sheep at a Justice Court trial, although it was reported the other day that Tim decided to go without mutton during Lent.

"Only Cause"
Justice Marvin Vaughn, who sentenced Tim to die, issued a statement today in which he said: "While Tim has temporarily escaped the death penalty, the law under which he was sentenced has been sustained. I took the only course provided by law when I ordered the dog put to death."

During Tim's imprisonment, appeals for his life came from every state in the Union, and petitions, letters and telegrams to Gov. C. Young at Sacramento piled up to such an extent that employment of an extra clerk to care for them was necessary, and finally the governor, last Saturday, was forced to issue a statement in which he said that he could not interfere, having no authority to interfere in court decrees of this nature.

The two, it was charged, planned to obtain $300,000 by promising to "surprise" from newspaper articles certain matters concerning the crash. Lavine was arrested in the office of Charles Crawford, politician after assertedly accepting $75,000 in marked money.

Lavine and Miss Johnson entered pleas of not guilty to the indictments in superior court late in the day. Their trials were set for April 22 before Superior Judge B. Rey SSchafer.

The pleas were taken after Judge Walton Wood had overruled a demurrer argued at length by defense attorneys.

Subpoenas were issued by the grand jury for the appearance of Lewis Crawford, Abraham Morris, former stock broker; Jacob M. Friedlander, former state corporation commissioner, former mayor George E. Cryer and Kent Parrot, who was "unofficial advisor" to Cryer.

Jacob Berman, associate of Lewis in the oil corporation, was closeted with the jury for several hours today. He previously had testified that Miss Johnson and Lavine asked him to be the go-between to extort money from Crawford, Parrot, Friedlander and Morris.

company declares that instead of the accused companies producing 95 per cent of the gasoline sold on the coast as charged by the government, they produce only 80 per cent.

The company also denies the charge of price fixing as regards inter-state commerce, admitting, however, that it refused to sell within certain states to retailers who were cutting prices.

Standard explained that it does not ship its California refined gasoline to retailers in other coastal states, but ships directly to its own storage tanks in Washington and Oregon, where it is then distributed. The answer says that therefore the company is not engaging in inter-state commerce in this respect.
